

Contents

Acknowledgements	1
Glossary of Indonesian and Javanese Words	7
Introduction	15
A quick note on functionalist pitfalls	17
Outline	18
1. Friendship: Context, Theory, and Approaches	23
Looking at what is there	29
Friendship in a nutshell	35
Reciprocity	35
Care	36
Trust	38
Java and postcolonial Indonesia	39
Friendships in Java	41
2. Data Collection and Methods	45
Research ethics	46
Ethnographic research	48
Participant observation	49
Oral data and interviews	50
Analysis	51
Written data: essays, sketches, and field diary	52
Cooperative and engaged research	52
Sample	54

Locations	56
Daerah Istimewa Yogyakarta: the area of Yogyakarta	56
Jakarta	57
3. Excavating Friendship in Indonesia	59
Local histories, Western historiographies	60
Native kingdoms	62
Colonial rule	63
Independence: Negara Kesatuan Republik Indonesia	65
Filsafat sosial: Javanese social philosophy	67
Gotong royong	69
Korupsi, kolusi, nepotisme	71
Family and kinship relations	75
Yogyakarta: the centre of kejawen	77
The making of a postcolonial cultural capital	79
Ideal discourses of relatedness	81
The kawula–gusti relationship	83
Literary sources of ideal relationships	85
The Pararaton	86
The Babad Tanah Jawi	87
Expressive sources of relatedness: Wayang and Ketoprak	90
The Wayang	91
The Ketoprak	93
4. Teman: Metaphors of Social Security	97
Local friendship grammatologies	98
Teman	102
Teman baik and teman akrab	104
Teman kerja	109

Gotong royong revisited	117
Bapakism and anak buah: strategic and asymmetrical friendship bonds	122
Teman in a nutshell	134
5. The Keluarga Complex: Family, Intimacy, and Sahabat	139
Keluarga: the family	143
The trah: relatedness as friendship and genealogy	146
Friendship and the missing family	152
The orphanage annex: a family of friends?	159
Resisting the keluarga: friendship as empowerment	162
The role of feelings and emotions	167
The click phenomenon	173
Sahabat	176
Jagongan: hanging out	179
Kepercayaan – trust	182
Transformation of a concept	189
6. Conclusion: Friendship in Postcolonial Indonesia	193
Suggestions for further research	201
Bibliography	203