

Contents

Acknowledgment	vii
List of Acronyms and Abbreviations	xiii
List of Tables and Figures	xv
0 Prologue: The Jeepney	1
1 Introduction	7
1.1 What the World Cup has to do with Philippine Migration	7
1.2 Personal Interest and Research Questions	9
1.3 Literature Review	15
1.4 Outline of the Book	20
2 The Approach of a ‘Culture of Migration’	23
2.1 Migration Theories: Approaches from Economics, Sociology, and Anthropology	23
2.2 A Literature Review of the ‘Culture of Migration’ Concept	33
2.3 Suggestions for an Approach of a ‘Culture of Migration’	41
2.3.1 Migration and Social Change	42
2.3.2 Structures and the Macro Level	45
2.3.3 Networks and the Meso Link	47
2.3.4 Cumulative Causation	50
2.3.5 Social and Financial Remittances	52
2.3.6 Migrancy: Some Ethnographic Examples	55
2.4 Conclusion	59
3 The Philippines: Prototype of State-sponsored Labor Migration	61
3.1 Colonial Continuity and Current Intra-regional Migration Systems	61
3.2 Migration as a Constant in Philippine History	69
3.3 Facts and Figures about Philippine Labor Migration	75
3.4 State Institutions	83
3.4.1 The Philippine Overseas Employment Administration (POEA)	83
3.4.2 Overseas Workers Welfare Administration (OWWA)	87
3.4.3 National Reintegration Center for OFWs (NRCO)	89
3.4.4 Commission on Filipinos Overseas (CFO)	90

3.5	The Legal Dimension	90
3.6	Migration Regimes in Regions of Destination	94
3.7	Addressing Migrants' Rights Issues on a Global Scale	100
3.8	Conclusion	103
4	Methodological Approach	105
4.1	Field Research	105
4.2	Participant Observation	107
4.3	Qualitative Interviews	109
4.4	Rankings and Comparisons	112
4.5	Sample	114
4.6	Data Analysis	115
4.7	Problems and Constraints	118
5	Experiencing Life Abroad	123
5.1	One out of Several Options	123
5.2	"I want to help my Family" – Motives for Migration	126
5.3	Working and Living Conditions	131
5.4	Acquisition and Transfer of Knowledge?	140
5.5	Conclusion	144
6	"A Place of Harvesting Gold": Meanings and Legitimacy of Migration	147
6.1	Cognitive World Maps	147
6.2	Legitimacy of Migration: Sacrifice	150
6.3	Popular Images and Local Meanings of Migration	161
6.4	Promoting Work Abroad: Italian Villages	168
6.5	Conclusion	175
7	Materiality and Economies of Migration	177
7.1	Remittances – Who sends, how much, and what are they used for?	177
7.2	National Development and Social Inequality	184
7.3	Reifying Social Relationships: the Balikbayan Box	188
7.4	Migration Industries	194
7.5	Conclusion	202
8	Social Status, Social Mobility, and Migration	205
8.1	The Social Status of Migrants in the Emic View of Non-migrants	205
8.2	Negotiated Selves, Prestige, and Consumption	222

8.3	Success and Failure	233
8.4	Middle Classes	237
8.5	“I don’t have any Wealth in this World to Bequeath to you Except your Education”: Education, Schooling, and Social Mobility	240
8.6	Conclusion	250
9	“Just a Text Away” – Organization of Transnational Family Life	253
9.1	Transnationalism	253
9.2	“Pay Back Time to Serve My Family”: Visits to the Philippines by Migrants	262
9.3	“He Gave Me All of His Time”: Visits to OFWs Abroad	270
9.4	“Oh It’s Papa Again!” – Transnational Communication	273
9.5	Conclusion	287
10	“They Started Acting Like Parents”: Children’s Narratives about Parental Migration	289
10.1	Lizelle: “The Other Family”	289
10.1.1	“They Already Have a Child”	290
10.1.2	“A Perfect Family”	294
10.1.3	“He Gave me All of his Time for That Two Weeks”	297
10.1.4	“I Blamed Myself”	300
10.2	Denise: “The Biggest Dilemma of Pretending to be This Person Inside This Family”	303
10.2.1	“Without You Being There”	304
10.2.2	“Your Parents not Knowing who you Really are”	307
10.2.3	“This Family is Purely Pretense”	310
10.3	Conclusion	313
11	“My Family is my Life” – Contextualizing Family	315
11.1	“My Priority is my Family” – Family Orientation and Close-Knit Family Ties	315
11.2	The Ideal of the Nuclear Family and Family Values	318
11.3	Love, Pride, and Obedience: Parent-Child Relationships	321
11.4	“Three Brothers, Solo Sister”: Sibling Relationships	327
11.5	The Effects of Migration on Children: Findings of Empirical Studies	331
11.6	Conclusion	338

12	Gender Relations in Households of Migrant Workers	341
12.1	The International Division of Reproductive Labor and the Crises of Care	343
12.2	Masculinity and the Role of Husbands and Fathers	346
12.2.1	Haligi ng tahanan – Men as the Pillars of the Home	346
12.2.2	Fathers Abroad	350
12.2.3	Fathers Left-behind	357
12.3	Femininity and the Role of Wives and Mothers	361
12.3.1	A Historical and Contemporary Perspective on Women in the Philippines	362
12.3.2	A Portrayal of Three Women	369
12.4	Transnational Mothering and Caregiving	379
12.5	Conclusion	387
13	Return Migration, Reintegration, and Temporary Come-backs	389
13.1	Theoretical Considerations and Implications for the Philippine Case	389
13.2	Why do Migrants Return Home?	393
13.3	Provision of Government and NGO Services Related to Return and Reintegration	402
13.4	Reintegration Processes	407
13.4.1	Social Reintegration	409
13.4.2	Balikbayan	411
13.4.3	Occupational Reintegration	415
13.5	A Temporary Returning	425
13.6	Conclusion	429
14	Conclusion – Culture of Migration and the Philippine Case	433
14.1	A Model of the Culture of Migration in the Philippines	433
14.2	International Labor Migration as a Way of Life in the Philippines	440
	Appendix: Index and List of Interview Partners	451
	Glossary	459
	List of References	461